Emergency Response Protocol: Fast Response is CRITICAL

We get involved early – to preserve evidence, ensure a fair investigation, interview witnesses, and prepare for future litigation.

A Unique Approach to a Strong Defense

We understand that a fast and immediate response is critical for our clients' well-being, as well as preserving evidence to defend our clients' interests. Our Emergency Response Protocol (ERP) Team has the resources to be involved in the early stages of emergencies in order to preserve evidence, ensure an impartial investigation of the evidence, interview witnesses, and prepare for potential litigation.

Securing Valuable Witnesses

Managing successfully a catastrophic event requires skilled, licensed attorneys to obtain critical witness testimony and initiate the privileges of the attorney-client relationship. One of our cases centered on a fatal accident involving an oil field tractor-trailer in a small, tight knit community. Our ERP Team responded immediately to the accident to locate witnesses and capture their vital testimony for our client. Our team's thorough and aggressive diligence placed our client in a strong, defensive position, minimizing both exposure to liability and costs of litigation.

An innovative way to address catastrophic events and capture the full benefit of the Attorney-Client Privilege.

Preservation of Evidence

Our lawyers provide professional skill at utilizing qualified forensic experts to preserve evidence during a catastrophic event. Following a fatal vehicle accident involving relatives of local governmental officials, our ERP Team responded swiftly to the scene in order to manage the crisis from an operational standpoint. Our talented and diligent legal team supervised the preservation of all evidence, secured critical evidence, and eliminated all spoliation concerns, which resulted in minimizing our client's liability exposure and financial risk.

A Trusted Source When You Need Help

A wise man said, "get up and train while your opponent is sleeping." Our legal team utilizes this approach every day, with every client and with every crisis. Our approach empowers our clients with the unique advantages critical to a successful defense. We can provide the same successful results to your company, as you continue to grow and face new challenges.
